A Home for Christmas

by Jean Jacobsen

Young widow and Ladies Society of Denver member Madeline Collier finds solace in charity work and fundraising for a local children's home. There she meets and befriends the orphaned Chloe, a young lady with a tragic past and great potential for the future.

Peter Townsend moves west from Philadelphia to escape his past and begin a new life. He purchases the Rocky Mountain Star newspaper, determined to bring the fledgling business to vibrant life and thus, record the birth of the fast evolving boom-town.

An unexpected meeting brings Maddie and Peter together to promote a charity event. It doesn't take long for their past friendship to renew and bloom into something more. When the seed of an idea is planted for Chloe's possible future, Madeline realizes she needs help to see it to blossom to fruition. Can she involve Peter enough to commit to a marriage of convenience and in so doing, help her give Chloe a forever home?
